CHURCH

The prison epistles are pretty incredible when you think about it. In these letters we are reminded of the immeasurable things God has accomplished on our behalf. We discover deep truths about our identities as individuals and as the body of Christ. We are called to what seem like impossible standards and given what seem like impossible promises. These letters are saturated with powerful prayers and are seeping with potent joy...and they were written by a prisoner. Paul wrote every word while in chains.

As a church we will read through these letters one chapter at a time. Monday-Friday we will mull over the chapter for that week. You can read it from beginning to end once each day, or you can spend time honing in on a few particular verses each day. However you study, we hope that as we read together we will be encouraged by what Paul thought, and the things he felt, and what he wrote during his time under house arrest.
